Mulhall wrote to F. C. Schwedtman, secretary to James W. Van-Cleave, president of the association, that he had seen Senator Nelson and that the senator had told him what transpired in his sub-committee. He swore on direct examination by Senator Cummins that Mr. Nelson had suggested that the association send a copy of the sub-committee's adverse report on the bill to the president, "Mr. Rooseveit". In one letter Mr. Mulhall spoke of being introduced to Senator Clapp by Mr. Nelson and of talking with both men about a recent decision under the Sherman

President Wilson and Senator Owen Hold Conference at White House-Confident of Passage

WASHINGTON, July 21 .- There are to be no changes in the administration plans for the enactment of a currency law at the present congress. This was plainly indicated today by President Wilson and Senator Owen, chairman of the senate committee on banking and currency, after they had held a long conference at the white house. The president said he was satisfied with the speed with which the administration currency bill was being handled at the capitol and de clared his confidence in the ultimate passage of the Glass bill with the changes proposed by the house com-With these changes he said he was in perfect accord. The most important change recommended would permit national banks to continue the use of two per cent gov ernment bonds for circulation. Other amendments are of minor impor tance, Senator Owens said. Chairman Glass tonight gave out the text of a revision of the note issue portion of the bill. This tentative draft would provide that federal reserve banks must carry in their 'vaults as a reserve, gold or gold certificates to the amount of 33 1-3 per cent of the treasury notes over notes issued by the bank.

The bill originally called for this reserve "in gold or lawful money." After some discussion it was agreed to change it in order to prevent the accumulation of greenbacks and silver dollars in the reserve. The conference today returned to the rediscount section of the bill to reconsider its action of last week when the maturity term of re-discountable notes was changed from 45 to 60 days. It was agreed to retain the 45-day term after a proposal Representative Wingo to extend the term to six months had been rejected. An amendment to the market operations section of the bill would allow the federal reserve banks to invest their funds in "United States bonds and bonds issued by any state, county or municipality."

JACKSON, Miss., July 21.-Attorney General Ross A. Collins announced today that he will file in Coahoma county tomorrow a suit in chancery court against the Illinois Central and Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroads, alleging an unlawful merger and asking penalties approximating $50,

Alleging infractions of the anti trust laws of Mississippi, the attorney's suit already prepared seeks to oust the Illinois Central from the PRESIDENT IS SATISFIED of the Yazoo & Mississippi railroad state, would forfeit the franchises and throw both into the hands of receivers. The suit also seeks to compel the Illinois Central to dispose of all stocks and bonds of the subsidiary road and to secure an absolute divorcement of interests. In a statement tonight Attorney General Collins said:

"The bill will allege that the Illinois Central controls, operates and dominates the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley: it it owns the capital stock of said road; that they are competitors engaged in the same kind business; that the combination working to the detriment of New Orleans, Memphis and all points on both lines of said roads between such points and is operating to the great injury of the state of Mississippi.

Penalties in excess of $50,000, 000 are demanded and the bill will ask for the forfeiture of the right to do business in this state, an injunction restraining the Illinois Central from further owning the capital stock of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley and from further controlling, managing and dominating the said Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroad.

Suit is Surprise to Officials. Chicago, July 21 .- The suit of the state of Mississippi against the Illinois Central is a surprise to the railroad's officials, according to C. Markham, president of the road, who said here tonight that he had had no notice of it.

"There have been no difficulties between the roads and the state authorities," Mr. Markham said. "The legality of the merger was settled in the Mississippi courts in a tax sui several years ago.

FIRST DAYS CONFERENCE BRINGS

New York, July 21.-The first day of conferences between the federal mediation board and the two parties to the controversy involving a threatened strike of 80,000 trainmen and conductors against the eastern railroads closed with the official announcement tonight that there was no change in the situation. Judge Wm. L. Chambers. chairman of the conciliation body appointed by President Wilson said the mediators were "more hopeful" however. While both the men and the roads informed the board of their purposes to standpat on the platform of grievances they want submitted for arbitration under the Newlands act the mediators say they believe that within a few days the roads may be induced to consent to have only the employes wage demand arbitrated. Under this plan the roads' grievances would be arbitrated later after the men have been given formal notice of thirty days. Both the mediators and trainmen appear to see in this the

FROM MISSISSIPPI REPUBLICANS ATTACK PROPOSED TARIFF

Republican Senators Continue Attack on Underwood-Simmons Measure

IS PARTISAN MEASURE

Senator Smoot Declares Bill Is a Partisan and Sectional Measure and Most Injurious

SCORES SECRET CAUCUSES

WASHINGTON, July 21 .- Republican senators continued to bombard the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill today, Senator Burton of Ohio expressing the assurance that it would fail in its purpose to lower the cost of living and Senator Smoot of Utah in an address to be continued tomorrow branding it as "the most injurious tariff measure ever taken up for consideration by congress."

"This bill," said Senator Smoot, 'is a partisan and sectional measure the outcome of secret caucus methods such as never ruled before in the senate of the United States. In his book "our new freedom" President Wilson says that there is no excuse for caucusing in congress and in a speech in Indiana preceding his election he emphasized that point by asserting that there was no necessity for secrecy in congressional proceedings. Yet not in the history of congress has there been anything equal to that record in the way of dark methods in the preparation of a tariff bill. Governor Foss of Massachusetts who has been three times elected to cratic party and who supported as a candidate for president at the, last Democratic convention denounces this bill as a sacrifice of the interests of the nation. He has purchased a site in Canada for his large manufacturing plant now in Massachusetts and says he will remove his business there if this bill becomes a law. William R. Hearst, a prominent Democrat, mentioned as a candidate for president agrees with Governor Foss We know what NO CHANGE IN SITUATION Democrats of Louisiana, Colorado, Montana and other states vitally interested, think of this measure. A former Democratic United States senator from Colorado has denounced it in vigorous terms. "Manufacturing is developing all over the south, crops are more diversified and there is every reason to believe that if left alone under the protective tariff its prosperity will continue to increase with great strides. But this bill will hurt instead of helping the south as its originators seem to think will be the case." Denounces Free Sugar. Analyzing the bill from end to end, Senator Smoot declared that of the many monstrous provisions of this tariff law, perhaps the worse is the one designed to annihilate the production of sugar in this coun-

"It seems almost incredible that any party should make itself responsible for such a great calamity as putting sugar on the free list to benefit a few refiners on the seacoast," the senator continued. The per capita consumption of sugar is over 81 pounds annually now and 40 per cent of that enters into the manufacturers of confectionery, etc. making a per capita consumption of the remainder of 41 pounds. No one anticipates the slightest reduction in confectionery and such things as a result of the removal of the duty on sugar. On the remaining consumption free sugar would apparently make an annual per capita saving of 64 cents but when the beet sugar industry is extinguished the sugar refiners will control the business and the consumer will not benefit as experience has shown.

Predicting dire results when the oill becomes a law and that the first industries of the country to suffer from its passage "would not be the great trusts and powerful corporations, but the thousands of manufacturers of small capital." Senator Smoot said: "I have been so proud of my country's development and her people, that I never get tired of singing her praises nor never cease thanking my God that I was born an American. I am interested in maintaining her present standard of living and preventing if possible her working people from coming in direct competition with the unfortunate working people of less favored countries. There is only one way to prevent it and that is by a protective tariff and therefore I have been and am still a protectionist without qualification.

He Corrected Clay. Hanna Rion, author of "Let's Make a Flower Garden," tells the following story which she got from her father, who was a protege of John C. Calhoun: Mr. Clay was visiting Fort Hill, the he and Mr. Calhoun as usual began heated argument on one of the thousand points which they did not agree upon. Mr. Clay became so engrossed he paid but small attention to the meal. and when the negro butler passed the biscuits Clay harpooned one with his fork.

The old butler HARPOONED ONE WITH

HIS FORK. was startled, but he silently disappeared into the kitchen to reappear with a plate of steaming waffles. Mr. Clay, more excited over his argument than ever, snatched a waffle with his fingers. This was too much. The old negro squared himself and, interrupting an argument which might have changed history, said: "No, boss, dat won't do at all. De fingers for de biscuits and de fork for de waf-

A Refined Looking Domestic. One day Miss Helen Taft was met by two tourists as she left the White House grounds. With that charming and inexplicable gift for garrulity which tourists develop, they stopped her and, not knowing that she was the president's daughter, asked her a lot of questions about the White House. Miss Taft submitted and pointed out all the various interesting things about the grounds, where the apartments of the president and his family were situated and other intimate details. "You seem to know a lot about it. my dear," said one of the women. "Oh," replied Miss Taft laughingly.

Cutting Out the Liver.

Herbert Corey, the champion long distance anecdote teller of the world, says that where he came from in Ohio there was a stranded, hungry race track gambler who struck town and found the friend of his boyhood running a short order restaurant, says the Saturday Evening Post. The restau rant man made his old comrade welcome and at first fed him copiously, but the wayfarer a gentle hint.

So he instructed the waiters to give him only liver to eat, liver being the cheapest thing on the bill of fare. The race track man had liver for breakfast, dinner and supper-just liver and nothing but liver. He lived on liver nine days. Then on the morning of the tenth he found a twenty dollar bill on the street He made hotfoot for the most pretentious cafe in the place. The menu was printed in French. He beckoned the waiter to him.

"Have you got liver here?" he asked, "This is liver," said the waiter, pointing to a line on the card. The gambler laid a thumb over it

"Now, then," he said. "bring me $10 worth each way from liver!"

HAD A TART TONGUE.

Northcote, the Painter, Was Not Overpowered by Royalty.

James Northcote, the English portrait painter, said fine things and maticious things almost in the same breath. "He is a bottle of aqua fortis," observed A taxicab driver attempting to cross some one to Hazlitt, the first critic of Madison avenue near Madison Square his day, "that corrodes everything it

"Except gold," said Hazlitt. "He never drops upon Sir Joshua or the

"Yes, his advice," said Hazlitt, "and very unpleasant it is."

This is not the picture of a charming man, and yet Northcote was not without his redeeming virtues. For one thing, he was refreshingly free from the worship of mere prestige in an age when men were careful to ap- O. H. Ermey, Dr. C. B. The Prince of Wales, when he was a young man, met the painter and was much pleased with his conversation.

"What do you know of his royal highness?' inquired Sir Joshua Reynolds later.

"Nothing," answered Northcote, "Nothing, sir! Why, he says be knows you very well." "Pooh!" said Northcote. "That's only his brag." The president of the Royal academy smiled. "Bravely said." he muttered, "bravely said!"

FACED SEVEN LIONS.

And Three of Them Got a Dose of Lead In Short Order.

Captain H. A. Wilson has written a record of "Service and Sport In Equatoria" in "A British Borderland." He relates a thrilling encounter he had with seven lions on the Mara river when in pursuit of roan and accompanied only by his gun bearer. Five of them were lionesses. They were all full grown and occupied with their kill-a cow giraffe. They were feeding slowly, their first hunger appeased, pushing and jostling one another playfully. their low growls distinctly audible;

"For a couple of minutes I waited. watching them; then, as the biggest lion, a fine, black maned fellow, turned sideways to me, I raised my rifle and let drive at his neck. I heard the thud of the bullet on flesh, and he dropped in his tracks like a stone. With a simultaneous growl every head went up, and the lions swung round, facing the noise of the shot. I let fly a second bullet at the chest of the second male. and with a deafening roar he bounded high in the air, dashed a dozen yards forward and fell dead to earth just as was drawing a second bead on him

"The remainder, all lionesses, turned at my second shot and walked slowly away with much tail lashing and a chorus of growls. I was just in time to get a snapshot at the bindmost as she disappeared into the scrub. The 'tell' of the bullet and her answering snarl told me that I had hit her, which blood spots on the leaves confirmed."

He Couldn't Plow. A certain incident connected with the great Napoleon while he was in exile in Elba is commemorated in the island to this hour by an inscription affixed to the wall of a peasant's house. man named Giaconi was plowing when the famous exne came along one day and expressed an interest in his work. Napoleon even took the plowshare out of the man's hand and attempted to guide it himself. But the oxen refused to obey him, overturned the plow and spoiled the furrow. The inscription runs thus: "Napoleon the Great, passing by this place in MDCCCXIV, took in the neighboring field a plowshare from the hands of a peasant and himself tried to plow, but the oxen, rebellious to those hands which yet bad guided Europe, beadlong fled from the furrow."

Sleeplessness.

When people of nervous temperament retire for the night and cannot sleep it is usually because their brains are still active and refuse to part with the blood which should properly travel elsewhere. What the sleepless really need is a sloping bed, so that the congested head will relieve itself easily of the superfluous blood. For the upper part of the body, being heavier than the lower, inevitably sinks more deeply into the bedding, and even if one props the head on two pillows the neck is curved and strained and obstructs the backward flow of blood.

No man is Stronger Than his Stomach

The Medical Adviser by R.V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N.Y. answers hosts of delicate questions about which every man or woman, single or married ought to know. Sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay for wrapping and mailing.

ET the greatest athlete have dyspepsia and his strength will soon fail. Ope's stamina-forcefullness and strength of mind or muscle depend upon the blood, and the blood in turn, requires a healthy stomach, for the stomach is the laboratory where the food is digested and such elements are taken up—or assimilated—which make blood. In consequence all the organs of the body, such as heart, lungs, liver and kidneys, as well as the nervous system, feel the bad effect if the stomach is deranged.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

helps the stomach to digest food properly, starts the liver into new activity, removing the poisons from the blood, and the various organs get rich, red blood, instead of being illy nourished. The refreshing influence of this extract of native medicinal plants has been favorably known for over 40 years. Everywhere some neighbor can tell you of the good it has done.

Sold by all medicine dealers in figure or tablet form; or send 50 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce, invalids' Motel, Ruffalo, and a trial box will be mailed you.
